Inflation Leaving Many Americans Worse Off

By The Associated Press
Many Americans who have felt the pinch of inflation say they think the steady rise in prices has left them worse off now than a few years ago.

Less than 10 per cent of more than 400 people across the nation who were questioned in a special inquiry by Associated Press bureaus said they had not been directly affected by inflation.

An engineer in Michigan doubted he could buy now the house he bought 2½ years ago. A Louisville man had to cut back his savings program. A

San Francisco secretary said higher taxes swallowed up her latest pay increase, but she's made some gains in recent years.

A South Dakota shoe salesman, who says he's having difficulty keeping up with price rises, added that nevertheless he's better off than he was a few years ago.

A gasoline station attendant in Los Angeles said he thinks big business has a lot to do with inflation. A repairman in Connecticut said inflation starts with the unions. A Mississippi businessman thought government should control both larger corporations and unions.

Leave Vietnam

An Indiana farmer blamed government spending for inflation. A book store owner in Michigan suggested stopping the war and getting out of Vietnam to solve tax problems. An Atlanta housewife opposed relief payments, saying more people should be encouraged to work.

The almost unanimous response to queries about inflation and its effect was that it is a problem of national concern. "Like everyone else I have a tough time keeping up with rising prices," said Marvin Hardy, 40, of Sioux Falls, S.D., a shoe salesman. Hardy, who earns nearly $9,000 a year, said despite inflation he was better off than he was two or three years ago.

But Mrs. William F. Anderson of Sacramento, Calif., complained, "If anything, we're worse off than before. Our grocery bill is going out of sight." The family income is nearly $10,000.

Ronald J. Ferrari of Livonia, Mich., an engineer whose income is more than $15,000, said, "My home bought 2½ years ago has risen in value drastically, 25 to 30 per cent I suppose. I don't think I could afford to buy this house now."

Controls

A number of people said they felt the government should impose price controls or wage and price controls. Others felt taxes were high, or that the government was spending too much money on the war in Vietnam, on defense, on space, on welfare or "other nonessential programs." A Honolulu housewife suggested a "curb on expense accounts of congressmen and senators."

Archie Wilson, 24, a gas station attendant in Los Angeles who makes less than $7,500 a year, said, "If inflation means the cost of things and what you can buy with what you make, then the answer is, yes, inflation is a problem."

"I don't know if the government can do anything about inflation," Wilson said. "I think that big businesses, like oil, steel and others, have a lot to do with it and maybe they should solve the problem. I doubt that they will though, if doing something about inflation means lower profits for their fat incomes."

A San Francisco secretary-bookkeeper said, "Taxes have eaten up a pay increase I just got. But I'm better off than two or three years ago."

A Montgomery, Ala., maintenance worker, Will Evans, 54, whose income is less than $7,500, said, "Things don't seem much different now than they ever were. When you don't make much money sometimes you don't notice things."

House Fight Coming

Farm Subsidy Ceiling Loses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators have voted down a proposed $20,000 annual ceiling on government payments to farmers for not planting crops, but House supporters of the limit say the fight is not over.

The Senate, before passing a $7.5 billion Agriculture Department appropriations bill Monday, eliminated a House-originated amendment which would impose a $20,000 limit on the subsidies. The vote was 52-34 in favor of rejecting the ceiling, and the bill was passed 88-2.

A conference committee will iron out differences between the Senate and House versions of the appropriations measure.

Republican Reps. Silvio Conte of Massachusetts and Paul Findley of Illinois, who pushed successfully for the ceiling in the House, said they would not give up on the limit.

Conte, calling the Senate action "a tragic mistake," said he would try to get the ceiling reinstated in conference or would seek House floor action insisting on the $20,000 limitation.

The ceiling was opposed by the administration.

Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois argued against limiting payments, while John J. Williams of Delaware fought for the ceiling he said would save the government $35 million annually.

Citing instances of five farms each getting more than $1 million not to produce crops, Williams commented: "I don't know how any member of the Senate can justify paying $1 million to so-called farmers not to farm."

Dirksen noted that the subsidy was started to eliminate farm surpluses.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., floor manager of the bill, contended the ceiling could create chaos in farming. And Sen.

Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said that a ceiling could hurt small farmers by causing a flood of produce on the market.

Not taking part in the debate but voting against the proposed ceiling was Democratic Sen. James O. Eastland who has received subsidies for keeping some of his Mississippi land out of production. Records from fiscal 1967 showed he and his family received $211,364 in such subsidies.

3 Schools Lose Federal Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, which last week relaxed deadlines for ending public school segregation, has ended federal aid to three southern school districts and filed antisegregation suits both above and below the Mason-Dixon line.

In announcing the deadlines would be eased, the administration said last week it would accelerate court suits against segregation in schools and continue to cut off government funds to districts still separating students on a racial basis.

Even with Monday's action, only eight suits have been filed in the first six months of President Nixon's administration seeking desegregation. All told, 125 court actions came in the last year of President Johnson's term.

Losing federal money under the Monday announcement were the Flager County Fla., board of education, the Wayne County, Ga., board of education and the Orangeburg School District No. 4 (Edisto) in South Carolina.

In the suits, the Justice Department attacked a freedom-of-choice plan in Barnwell, S.C., and the method of placing faculty members in Madison County, Ill.

The suit in Illinois was the first such action taken under the Nixon administration against a Northern state's school district.

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national jobless rate was virtually unchanged at 3.4 per cent of the labor force in June despite first indications of a slowdown in the demand for labor, the Labor Department reported today.

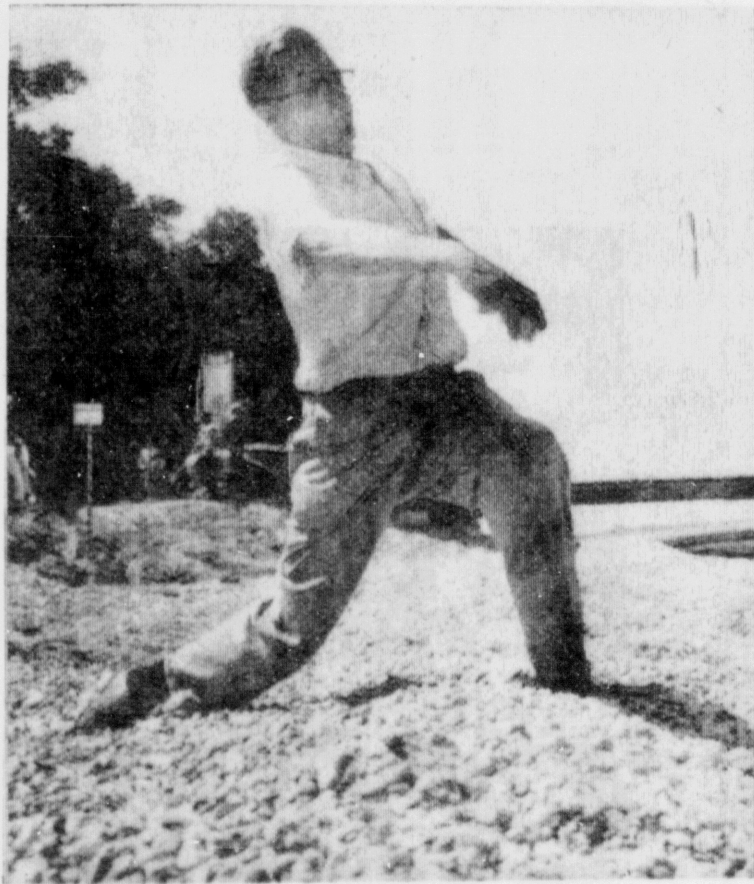

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — President Jomo Kenyatta's car was stoned today as he arrived at the Holy Family Cathedral here for a Requiem Mass for assassinated minister Tom Mboya.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A confrontation between the nation's top bankers and the government's major economic decisionmakers has provided no clues to the future course of interest rates, currently spiraling upward at a record pace.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is not applying any noticeable pressure to win Senate approval of the Safeguard missile defense system, key Democrats and Republicans agree.

Car Slips Jack

MORRICE (AP) — A 16-year-old Owosso lad was killed Monday when a wrecked car fell on him at a junkyard in Morrice. Authorities say the victim, Kenneth Gokee, was taking some parts off the junk car when it slipped off a bumper jack and crushed him at Walt's Auto Parts at Morrice.

Sexes Differ On Priority Of Sex

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sex is No. 2 in a man's priorities for selecting a mate but No. 6 on the woman's list and that's the reason 75 per cent of American marriages are a bust, according to an eminent psychologist.

"When a man gazes into a woman's eyes with what they think is love and devotion they are not seeing the same thing," Dr. Clifford Rose Adams, professor emeritus of Penn State University, added in a report based on 30 years of research.

"Odds on any marriage being a success are shorter than those of hitting the jackpot on a pinball machine in Las Vegas."

Adams, 66, a consultant for Encyclopaedia Britannica and numerous scientific publications, presented his latest findings to the Identity Research Institute here after studying 6,000 couples.

"Since the sex revolution following World War II sexual satisfaction has been much more important to the male than to the female," the professor said. "Companionship is the first subconscious factor influencing the male in mate picking. Then, in order, come sex, love-affecting sentiment in a single category, home and family, a helpmate (one giving encouragement), and, lastly, security."

"For the woman the first things she seeks are love, affection and sentiment. She has to feel loved and wanted. The second is security, then companionship, home and family, community acceptance and, sixth, sex. 'So you see man and woman do not see eye-to-eye. How can marriages, under these circumstances, last?'"

Adams said government sta-

Record 611 Killed Over 4th

By The Associated Press
A record death toll for a three-day Fourth of July holiday period was set by motorists last weekend when 611 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

The total was within the National Safety Council's prediction of between 550 and 650 traffic fatalities during the period which began at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday. But it surpassed the mark of 576 set in 1966 for a period of like duration. The record for any Independence Day observance was in 1967 when 732 persons died in traffic during that four-day holiday.

For comparison, there were 435 traffic deaths counted by The Associated Press during a nonholiday three-day weekend June 19 through June 22.

Sec. Kennedy Pleads For Surtax Extension

Troops Flying Homeward

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP) — The first U.S. troops to be pulled out of Vietnam by President Nixon winged homeward in nine jet transports today after a sendoff marked by military fanfare and the thanks of Saigon officials.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of American forces in Vietnam, told the 814 men in the first contingent of 25,000 U.S. troops being withdrawn: "You occupy a significant moment in history."

A gala welcome awaited the infantrymen, almost all veterans of combat, at this Air Force base, near Ft. Lewis and the city of Seattle.

Program
Army chief of Staff Gen. William C. Westmoreland, a former U.S. commander in Vietnam, flew in from Washington with decorations for five of the returning soldiers of the 3rd Battalion, 60th Infantry, 9th Infantry Division.

On the program for the next three days were speeches by public figures, band music, a parade, a dinner, pretty girls and, in many cases, family reunions.

Among those who saw the troops off at Tan Son Nhut airport Tuesday were South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Defense Minister Gen. Nguyen Van Vy.

Thieu and Ky were surprised last minute arrivals, just before the soldiers marched to their waiting C141 Starlifter aircraft. They passed down the ranks of the fatigue-clad Americans, shaking hands and thanking them for their services.

Addressing the departing battalion, Thieu said: "Together we have repelled Communist aggression. This has been our goal and our purpose."

"This is only the beginning of this process," Thieu said. He noted the losses of the U.S. 9th division in South Vietnam—1,853 killed in action—and said, "Our duty is to make sure this sacrifice was not in vain."

Thieu Presents Gift

After his speech, Thieu presented a gift to the unit and individual gifts to its officers and senior noncommissioned officers.

Abrams told the troops: "The progress in the armed forces of the Republic of Vietnam has enabled us to begin a program which permits replacement of United States units with those of the Republic of Vietnam."

"... Americans everywhere are proud of your achievements. 'You occupy a significant moment in history.'"

In Fatigues

Just before the arrival of Thieu, about 15 Vietnamese girls dressed in flowing and colorful ao dais passed along the drawn-up ranks distributing a gift package to each GI. The packages contained a small Vietnamese flag, a tape recording of Vietnamese songs and a gold shoulder cord to decorate uniforms.

With the band playing, and sweat streaming down their faces in the hot midmorning sunshine, the happy GIs tucked the gifts beneath their arms and joyfully marched off to their transports.

The first of the transports from Saigon was expected to reach McChord at 3:25 p.m. PDT—6:25 p.m. EDT—and all were due to touch down by midnight.

The veterans will spend Wednesday undergoing the military routine for returnees and practicing for a parade in Seattle Thursday at which Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor will be in the reviewing stand. The festivities will wind up with a salmon bake in a Seattle hall.

Delay For Tax Reform Would Free Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy pleaded today for immediate Senate action to extend the income tax surcharge, declaring a delay would throw doubt on "the determination of government to bring an orderly halt to inflation."

But Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., replied his Senate Finance Committee would open the extension bill to broad questions of tax reform and thus take weeks and possibly months to act on it.

The conflicting viewpoints were voiced as the committee opened its public hearings on the bill passed by the House by a slim 210-205 vote.

Kennedy, the first witness, said, "Failure to extend the surcharge would amount to a cut in taxes at a time of accelerating inflation. The consequences of failing to pass this legislation are unthinkable."

Postpone

Kennedy urged the panel to postpone reform legislation, pending another bill being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee.

But Long announced in opening the hearing that tax reform would be considered as a major part of the surtax bill and "that our tax reform hearings are going to be just as broad and comprehensive as the senators want them to be."

He said the committee would open public hearings July 21 on reform amendments.

Kennedy said during House hearings on the bill that the surtax extension should be hurried through as an anti-inflation measure, and that major tax reform should be taken up later by Congress in a separate bill.

The Finance Committee has not decided how it will attack the touchy question of tax reform.

Reform Vehicle

But the powerful Senate Democratic Policy Committee has voted unanimously to use the surtax bill as a vehicle for reform amendments.

The House bill, which would extend the 10 per cent income surtax the rest of this year and then lower it to 5 per cent for the first six months of 1970, has three other items included. These are repeats of the 7 per cent investment credit for business plant and equipment mor-

Truck Buries Car: 3 Killed

FLINT (AP) — Police have identified the victims of a triple fatality crash near Flint Monday as a Linden woman and her two daughters.

Officers said 33-year-old Dorothy Hubble and her daughters, 11-year old Kathy and 20-month-old Tina were killed by the impact.

Another daughter, nine-month-old Debby, is reported in fair condition at Flint's Hurley Hospital.

Police said Mrs. Hubble's car apparently ran a stop sign, causing the driver of a semi-truck to swerve sharply and tip over.

The truck buried the car with Mrs. Hubble and her three children in gravel. The truck driver and a passenger escaped with minor injuries.

Chance Phillips Slaying Tied To Coed Murders

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A sociology professor who introduced a University of Michigan coed to the ex-convict charged Monday in her death says "He seemed to be a person capable of leading a better life."

"I felt sorry for him. I tried to find him a job and help him adjust when he got out" of prison, said Dr. Thomas M. Mayer, who was in jail after a sit-in protest when he met the man, 28-year-old Ernest L. Bishop Jr., in late 1967.

Bishop, a convicted rapist, was charged Monday with fatally shooting 25-year-old Margaret Phillips, a University of Michigan graduate student in sociology. Police said she was trying to help rehabilitate Bishop.

Meanwhile, Ann Arbor police again today sought a 22 caliber gun and other clues which they said may connect Miss Phillips' death with at least two of the other six slayings of young women in southeast Michigan in the last two years.

Chance
"It's a 50-50 chance," said Ann Arbor Police Chief Walter Kransky Monday on whether the deaths of two other University of Michigan coeds found shot to death this year were connected. In all three cases, a 22 caliber gun was used to shoot them in the head.

The other four victims from the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area were stabbed, bludgeoned, and strangled as well as being sexually abused.

Police today planned another attempt to plumb the Huron River at Ann Arbor. An acquaintance of Bishop, Robert Schwaert of Ann Arbor, told police the gun was thrown from a bridge into the muddy river.

Contacted at his new home in Boulder, Colo., Monday night, Mayer said he allowed Bishop—a garbage collector and refrigerator repairman—to live at his home in Ann Arbor for three months this year after his release from Southern Michigan Prison.

"Bishop had a good sense of humor," Mayer said. "A warm personality."

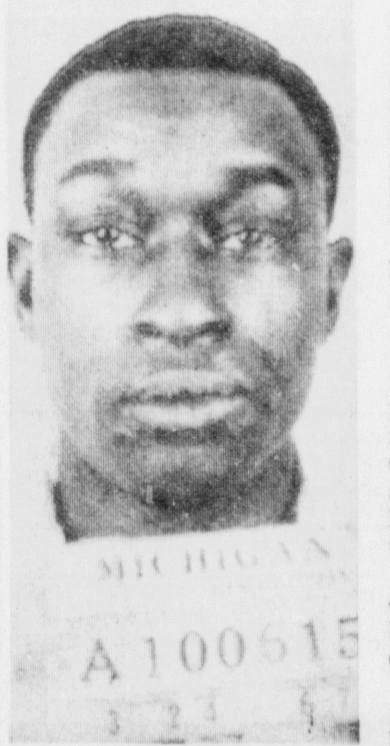

Anti-Draft Protest
Mayer was serving a short jail term arising from an anti-draft protest in Ann Arbor when he met Bishop during the 1967 Christmas holidays. Bishop was awaiting transfer to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson at the time, for a parole violation.

Bishop was released from prison last Dec. 27. He originally had been sentenced in 1959 in Detroit on a rape conviction.

"I wanted him to live at my place until he could get back on his feet — a temporary thing," said Mayer, who joins the University of Colorado sociology department this fall.

The former Michigan professor introduced Miss Phillips to Bishop.

ICC Rules No Hearing On C&NW Plan:

Last Passenger Trains Scheduled Next Tuesday

At 12:28 a.m. next Wednesday, passenger train service to Escanaba will be over.

Chicago & North Western Railway Co. officials said today that the once-famous Peninsula "400" will make its final runs next Tuesday, ending service to Escanaba when passengers are discharged at the 3rd Ave., N. depot at 12:28 a.m. Wednesday, July 16.

The final southbound run will leave Escanaba early next Tuesday morning.

Discontinuance of Trains 209 and 214, barring an unforeseen development, was assured when the U. S. Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that it will not "enter upon an investigation of the proposed discontinuance" despite protests by the cities of Escanaba, Menominee and Marinette, Wis.

The decision was reached "in view of the modest patronage on the subject trains; the substantial deficits incurred in their operation, and the proposed bus service which would be provided between Green Bay and Ishpeming," reported Andrew Anthony Jr., acting secretary for the ICC, in a notice to City Manager George Harvey of Escanaba.

Considered Protests

The ICC said it has considered the C&NW proposal and its "supporting statement" and protests filed in opposition before reaching its decision.

The railroad said losses on the Green Bay to Ishpeming run averaged over $250,000 per year in the past two years.

Harvey said today he was not sure of the next step, if any, by the city, but that he is contacting the city attorneys of the communities involved to determine if there is any further action possible.

The City Council of Escanaba — voted formal opposition and protest to the discontinuance of the trains and requested a hearing on the C&NW proposal to be held in Escanaba.

The cities of Marinette and Menominee previously had lodged formal protests with the ICC.

Marinette Mayor John Parsek also said he did not know what course of action to pursue.

No "Rebuttal"

"The ICC doesn't even give the municipalities involved an opportunity for rebuttal of the C&NW claims or to present our case," Parsek said. "This is a hard blow to take when they even deny you a hearing."

Mayor John Reindl of Menominee also expressed deep disappointment with the decision.

"It is another blow and a disappointment to our economy," he said. "I was hoping we would at least have had an opportunity to present our case."

In addition to rejecting the pleas of Escanaba, Marinette and Menominee for a hearing, the ICC also turned down a formal request from the Wisconsin Public Service Commission for a hearing. Michigan's Public Service Commission did not intervene, but did name a staff member to represent the commission in event a hearing was ordered by the ICC.

Bus To Start

Alternate bus service by Greyhound Lines, Inc., to serve the passenger trains will begin Wednesday, July 16.

Southbound bus from Ishpeming will arrive in Escanaba at 1:50 p.m. for passenger pickup at the Greyhound terminal, 615 Ludington St., with arrival at Green Bay and connections with southbound C&NW train 216 at 4:15 p.m. The northbound bus will arrive in Escanaba at 6:50 p.m., arriving in Ishpeming at 8:50 p.m.

The railroad said that the bus service will be offered on an experimental basis for one year. If successful, it will be continued on a year-to-year basis.

Milliken To Meet Mayors Of U.P.

Gov. William G. Milliken will meet with mayors from throughout the Upper Peninsula Wednesday in Marquette.

It will be the Governor's sixth U.P. trip this year, and the meeting will be another in a series of regional conferences the Governor has scheduled with Michigan mayors. Previous meetings were held in Lansing, Grand Rapids, and Saginaw.

At least 20 mayors have indicated they would attend the meeting at 1:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. The Governor plans to hold a news conference after the meeting.

"I will ask mayors for views on what they feel the State should and should not be doing," Milliken said. "We also will discuss problems of particular concern to the Upper Peninsula."

"The Upper Peninsula has an important stake in recent developments in the area of state-local relationships.

"But beyond that, there are immediate, pressing problems in the Upper Peninsula which demand a cooperative and creative relationship between local and state government."

"Last week, I held another in a series of meetings with the governors of Wisconsin and Minnesota to improve the effectiveness of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission (UGLRC), which can play an important role in helping stimulate the economic growth of the Upper Peninsula."

"Much more needs to be done at the federal and state levels to stimulate this growth. I am working closely with a number of departments of state government to foster business and industrial development, as well as tourism and recreation development; to stem the migration out of the Upper Peninsula; to provide vocational training; to focus on such broad problems as highways and forest industry; and to cope with such special problems as shutdown of mining facilities, and Federal government plans to close Kincheloe Air Force Base."

State Board To Act On Sex Guidelines

LANSING (AP) — Long-awaited guidelines for teaching sex education and family planning to Michigan youngsters come before the State Board of Education tonight.

The proposed guidelines, embodied in a more than 50-page report prepared by a special committee, were expected to be subject to a public hearing before board decision on their content.

School districts across the state have been urged by legislative resolution to halt sex education courses until guidelines are adopted.

Action on that resolution followed a blast by James O'Neil, a member of the state board, who charged that a department-prepared bibliography on sex education materials contained items some adults would consider pornographic.

Animal Act

He cited slides showing a chicken and a rooster performing a sexual act and said he believed "many people in society would rightfully object to prematurely providing sex education to children who still believe in Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny."

The Legislature called on the department to provide guidelines when it passed a bill last year authorizing teaching of family planning information in Michigan schools.

"While (the law) charges the Department of Education with responsibility for preparing guidelines only 'for family planning information,' the department believes it desirable as part of its leadership responsibility to make available to schools guidelines for a comprehensive program of sex education," the committee report says.

"We tried to make the guidelines reflect life as it is, not something out of books," says Dr. Eleanor Skufis of Adrian, chairman of the group which wrote the report.

Involves More

"Life, particularly the sexual side of life," involves much more than just school," she added. "Educational, professional and religious organizations are in a partnership with parents to assure healthy growth and development of youngsters."

Toward that end, the proposed guideline - report calls again and again for community participation in drawing up local sex education programs.

Parent groups, it says, should be informed and involved at every step in the curriculum development process.

"Much negative criticism can be avoided and community fears can be allayed if responsible citizens share in such key decisions as the placement of certain units of instruction and the selection of instructional materials, aids and resources."

Guidance

The committee report says schools should view sex education as a continuing process of instruction and guidance, to:

—Provide a base of educational experiences upon which each child, youth or adult builds and develops insights and values regarding his human sexuality as a person and as a member of society.

—Place sexuality in proper perspective to the child's total learning and life experience "to minimize what some have called the present-day 'preoccupation' or 'obsession' with sex."

—Strengthen and improve communications at home between child and parent in the area of human sexuality.

The proposed guidelines suggest that:

—The teacher "must be particularly careful not to impose personal value systems on his students."

—A wide variety of materials should be presented objectively.

—The teacher may "objectively present information regarding the religious and medical resources for family planning available in the community."

State law expressly prohibits reference to birth control methods in Michigan classrooms.

—The teachers do not have the responsibility to provide individual and personal advice, guidance and counseling "with regard to specific methods of limiting conception."

—Sexual behavior or standards of particular children should not be surveyed.

—Family planning information should be approached in the context of preparation for responsible parenthood, preparation for marriage, "not as a separate course, subject or class."

—Local districts should provide adult education programs since "so many parents appear to be insecure because of insufficient and inaccurate information about such programs."

Thunderbirds Coming

Residents of the Upper Peninsula will have two opportunities this summer which won't come along again for a long time.

The U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds, flying the F-4E Phantom II jet interceptor, will fly precision air shows at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base Saturday and over Little Bay de Noc off Ludington Park Aug. 30 in connection with dedication ceremonies for Escanaba's new airport terminal.

The K. I. Sawyer show is scheduled to begin at 3 p. m. with the Escanaba program set for either 1 or 2 p. m.

A publicity brochure for the Thunderbirds lists 16 different maneuvers the pilots perform during the 30-minute, supersonic program, including rolls, crossovers, cloverleafs and loops.

The appearance will be the first of the famous group north of Milwaukee. The opportunity to see them shouldn't be missed.

With the summer season well along, the time when Escanaba baseball teams enter tournament play is nearing. Little League, Babe Ruth League and American Legion teams will compete with other Upper Peninsula teams for the right to advance to regional or state competitions. The goal, of course, is a place in the national tournament.

Championships teams, however, don't come along very often, but Escanaba has produced its share.

In the late 1950s, an Escanaba Little League team advanced to the semi-final game of the national tournament at Williamsport, Pa., and the Esby Cubs American Legion team, winners of something like 14 or 15 straight titles, has won state championships.

Whether or not the teams this year have the ability to win in competition with teams from other communities remains to be seen. There always is that chance, however, and we wish them well.

The reduction in tolls at the Mackinac Bridge hasn't provided the "boom" in traffic for the Upper Peninsula which might have been expected, but crossings are continuing to set records.

Crossings in June totaled 202,114, an increase of some 25,000 from the 177,337 recorded in 1968, according to Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"This is a record for any June since the bridge opening in November of 1957," he said, "but with decent weather June figures might have been substantially higher. It is obvious that the cool, wet days of the past month deterred a considerable number of potential bridge crossers."

For the record, the last four weeks of June might have been one of the wettest in history in the Upper Peninsula. Including the 3.61 inches of rain that fell June 26, total rainfall for the month in Escanaba was 7.22 inches, more than four inches above the normal 3.16 inches. Sault Ste. Marie and Stambaugh, with 5.89 and 5.33 inches, respectively, also were considerably above normal.

Maybe that just proves that the best tourist promotion of all is sunshine.

Speaking of tourist promotion, the Associated Press reported during the Fourth of July holiday period that campgrounds in northern Lower Michigan were loaded, but there was space available in the Upper Peninsula.

The news report, unfortunately, came a little too late for most people to change their trips to include the Upper Peninsula. The same information a few weeks earlier might have done some good.

The Family Lawyer

Beated By Baggage

Wheeling around a corner, the bus driver cut so sharply that a suitcase fell out of the overhead rack. It landed squarely on the head of an unsuspecting woman passenger, inflicting painful injuries.

In due course, she sued the bus company for damages. At the trial, the company protested that it should not be held responsible for such an unlikely accident.

But the court felt otherwise and ordered the company to pay the woman's claim. The judge said it was part of a driver's job to handle his bus with full regard for the dangers of falling luggage.

As it does on all common carriers, the law imposes substantial responsibility on a bus company for the safety of the traveling public. This responsibility extends not only to the way the driver handles the bus but also to the way luggage is placed — either on the rack overhead or in the seats and aisles.

Consider this case:

A passenger set his suitcase on the floor, where it protruded more than two feet into the aisle. Another passenger, coming through, stumbled over the suitcase and suffered a broken leg.

Here, too, a damage suit against the bus company was successful. The victim won his case on the ground that the suitcase had been in that obstructive position long enough for the bus driver — if he had been reasonably alert — to have noticed it and taken action.

Nevertheless, while the law demands due care of the driver, it does not expect the impossible. In another case, the driver did check the position of all luggage — above and below — before starting out. Furthermore, he drove his bus with proper care.

Yet, unbeknownst to him, a kitten on the overhead rack contained a hatch. During the ride the kitten mover, shifting the center of gravity and bringing the satchel crashing down upon a passenger's shoulder.

Under these circumstances, a court could find no basis for holding the bus company liable. The judge said he saw no way by which the driver, no matter how conscientious, could have foreseen and forestalled an accident like this.

No Sure Thing Yet In Mayoral Contest

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The New York City Republican conservatives, plus their Conservative Party allies, are still in a state of blissful shock over the fact of their victory over Mayor John Lindsay in the Republican primary.

They are still reminding themselves that their candidate, State Sen. John Marchi of Staten Island, was a virtual unknown before the campaign to voters outside the Borough of Richmond; that they had only the slimmest of purses to spend on literature and getting registered Republican conservatives out to the polls; that Marchi himself did very little active campaigning until Bill Buckley, former candidate for Mayor on the Conservative Party ticket, made a Saturday tour with him on the week-end before the primary; and that the media, dealing with an unknown, naturally did not go overboard to give him space.

If Marchi could beat Lindsay despite these many handicaps, the Republican conservatives and their Conservative Party allies argue that they can surely win in November once they have mounted a real campaign.

Their feeling, now that they are actually getting to know Marchi, is that they have a rather Stevensonian type of man on their hands, a man who resents clichés and likes to deal in shades and nuances. This could have its good and bad campaign features, but on its positive side it is apt to be disconcerting to the pro-Lindsay camp which has been plugging the line that Marchi is "just a routine law and order man." The Republican conservatives are sure that Marchi will want to develop issues in some depth, not just repeat slogans.

But the trades union aspects of teacher organization, such as bargaining for salaries, tenure and the like, will remain in central hands. After the Ocean Hill-Brownsville fiasco this is what the teachers want. And Marchi, as the man who gave it to them, can make a quite legitimate pitch for the teachers' vote.

If his pitch is persuasive, he stands to cut into the New York City ethnic Jewish vote that might otherwise go to John Lindsay on the Liberal Party line.

Marchi has been closer than anyone realizes to the affairs of New York City for a decade and more.

As chairman since 1962 of the Senate committee that handles the State-connected affairs of the City of New York, Marchi has been a member of the inside legislative group which channelled 45 per cent of the available State urban aid funds to New York City. All legislation affecting the city has had to go to Marchi's committee.

This, so his supporters are certain, must give him a broad-based appeal in the forthcoming mayoralty election contest.

Much will depend, of course, on how much of the "liberal monolith" remains intact for November.

If Lindsay can pick up sizeable support from the Democratic liberals who voted for Bronx Borough President Badillo, Norman Mailer, and even for Bob Wagner in the Democratic primary, he could squeak in as Mayor. But Marchi, as a man of hidden depths, has possibilities of "cutting in to the middle" in significant ways.

So keep your fingers crossed about the New York election until you see how the campaign goes; nothing is sure as

Things Looking Up For Comic, Wilson

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "My accountant estimated my income last year would be $300,000 said Flip Wilson, "but I actually earned $500,000."

"Now things are looking up. If I can have two more years like that, I'm going to move out of the poverty area."

The 34-year-old Negro performer, newest top star on the comedy scene, has spent most of his life in the poverty area. His present success is a tribute to a self-determination that would be a credit to any Horatio Alger hero.

Born Clerow Wilson—"I don't know why they hung that first name on me"—Flip is one of 24 children of a Newark handyman. In his childhood he lived in three foster homes.

"I quit school at 16 because I was ashamed that I had only a dime a day to spend for lunch," he recalled recently between shows at the Americana's Royal Box.

Flip From Service

"I was a good student, and the other kids looked up to me. But I guess I kind of looked down on myself because I was so poor."

He then spent nearly four years in the Air Force, and won the nickname of Flip because of the humorous skill with which he delivered troop information talks.

He made the great decision of his life in 1954 when he was earning $40 a week as a bellhop and part-time clerk in a San Francisco hotel. One night, when a performer failed to appear for the hotel's show, Flip volunteered to fill in for him.

"The applause I got made me decide right then what I wanted to do the rest of my life," he said. "I wanted to make people laugh."

Studied Humor

"I learned there is a theory among great comedians that it takes 15 years to develop a rounded, stand-up comic, and I decided I would do just that."

"Since there is no school for humor, I haunted the bookstores

3♥     Pass     4♣     Pass
4♦     Pass     6♦     Pass

Opening lead—nine of hearts.

"What can defeat me?" is a question every declarer should ask himself whenever there is even the slightest possibility of defeat. If the answer is that a certain distribution of the missing cards would place the contract in jeopardy, declarer should start looking for a method of play that will overcome such distribution.

Take this deal where South is in six diamonds, Superficially—without seeing the East-West cards — it seems that declarer will make either 12 or 13 tricks.

Undoubtedly that would be the result in the overwhelming number of hands—since the adverse diamonds and clubs would be divided either 2-2 or 3-1 more than 80% of the time.

But South has no right to assume that either or both suits will break favorably, and from the start he should cater to the possibility of a 4-0 division in either suit.

Accordingly, he wins the heart lead with the ace and discards a heart on the ace of spades. He must obviously lead trumps next, and, since there is no way of avoiding a trump loser if either opponent has all four of them, he starts to draw trumps by cashing first the ace and then the queen.

When the diamonds prove to be divided 2-2, South's only remaining concern is a 4-0 club break. He cannot protect against West having the four missing clubs, so he proceeds on the basis that East has them.

He leads the four from dummy and plays the deuce from his hand if East follows low. When West shows out, South makes the slam after conceding a club trick. Note that declarer goes down if he fails to make the safety play.

If East puts up the ten on the first club lead, South takes the king and returns a low club when West shows out. He can trap East's queen later by crossing to the king of trumps and leading a club from dummy.

Ann Landers

Important Inches Lost By Pregnancy

Dear Ann Landers: I am 31 and have four children. My husband is a fine provider and that's the sum and substance of his good qualities. I've been feeling especially sorry for myself lately because my life is so unromantic. There were times when I thought I was cracking up. Now I'm sure I'm off my rocker.

A few months ago, I saw a certain Senator on TV. He looked so handsome and spoke with such conviction that I wrote him a note of praise. He sent a personal letter of thanks and I've been plain goofy ever since.

I've gone to the bookstore and am reading up on his state. I visit the library every day to check the Congressional Record to see if he said anything. I cut his pictures out of newspapers and magazines and keep them in a special place. Yesterday, I saw my hero on TV and nearly fainted from excitement. I was never like this over any movie star. Is this a sign of insanity? What should I do?—Flipped Out

Dear Flipped: You do sound a trifle batty, but so long as it doesn't interfere with your everyday life, don't worry about it. Should you reach the point, however, that you can't do your housework or, heaven forbid, if you consider a trip to Washington, then I'd suggest psychiatric help.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you have access to the best medical brains in the country. Please give me an answer.

I am a married woman with three children. Before the babies came I had a good figure. Nothing spectacular, but my measurements were 34-24-34.

Now I'm as flat as an ironing board. When I say my bustline is zero, Ann, I mean 24-24-34.

Padded bras are O. K. for filling out my form when I wear sweaters or knit dresses, but I want to feel like a woman again. Is there something that can be done surgically—something really safe? Please let me know.—Hopeful

Dear Hopeful: See a plastic surgeon about silicone implants. Note, I said implants, not injections. This operation is expensive, but it is legal and safe, and can produce excellent results. And now, to all you gals out there who envision yourselves as prospective Sophia Loren—don't write and ask for names of plastic surgeons. I cannot recommend specific doctors, but your family doctor can.

Dear Ann Landers: I am ten years old and going steady with a boy named Billy. Well, I guess you would call it going steady although we don't go anywhere. I know Billy likes me better than any other girl because he hits me a lot during recess.

Truck Causes Traffic Snarl

Three Escanaba police officers spent over two hours directing traffic around two big tank trucks that were parked cross ways in Ludington St. at Lincoln Drive Monday.

The big traffic jam occurred from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. when a large tank truck owned by Mercury Trucking jackknifed across Ludington St. after its steering mechanism broke while it was making a turn.

Unable to move, the driver of the tanker called another truck to the scene to transfer his load.

During the transfer, which lasted over an hour, some fuel oil was spilled out onto the road making it slippery.

An Escanaba fire truck was called to the scene to wash down the street, making it safe for motorists.

After a wrecker removed the disabled truck, traffic resumed its normal pace.

Delay For Tax Reform Would Free Inflation

dermatization, reduction or elimination of federal income taxes for 13 million low-income families, and extension of present auto and telephone excise tax rates which otherwise would drop Jan. 1.

How far the Senate decides to go on additional tax reform will determine how long it takes to finish up work on the bill.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, also chairman of the policy committee, explained that many of his colleagues were unwilling to vote to continue the surtax unless assured that provisions to close tax loopholes would be tied to the same legislation.

Dirksen's View

On the other hand, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, a Finance member, advocates a minimum of reform provisions in the surtax bill.

Supporting the administration contention that the surcharge must be extended at once, Dirksen has urged that the Senate pass the bill by the end of this month. But Mansfield has suggested that September is a more likely time.

Finance Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., says his panel will decide soon how deeply it will go into the question of reform in the surtax measure.

Former Tiger Manager Dies

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—Robert A. "Red" Rolfe, one of the New York Yankees' all-time greats who helped the club to six American League pennants, died today. He was 60.

Rolfe, whose brilliant playing career was shortened by poor health, died at his home on Governor's Island in nearby Guilford after a lingering illness.

He retired as athletic director at Dartmouth College here, his alma mater, in 1967 after undergoing surgery for an intestinal disorder.

A native of Penacook, N.H., the soft-spoken Rolfe enjoyed a career unequalled in sports. He led Dartmouth to the first Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League championship in 1930 and served as the team captain the next year before signing with the Yankees.

After three years in the minor leagues, he was promoted to the Yankees and remained with the club until forced to retire after the 1942 season. He recently was named the Yankees' all-time third baseman.

Rolfe was the Yankees' regular third baseman from 1935 through 1941. He compiled a lifetime average of .289 in helping New York to the pennant, and five world championships, from 1936 to 1942 under Manager Joe McCarthy.

Rolfe's best year was in 1939, when he batted .329 and led the league in hits, doubles and runs scored.

Rolfe became head baseball and basketball coach at Yale following his retirement from baseball. In 1946, he returned to the Yankees as a coach, leaving after the season to coach Toronto in the early days of the National Basketball Association in the 1946-47 campaign.

He joined the Detroit Tigers as farm director in 1948 and a year later became the team's manager. He was named the American League's Manager of the Year for piloting the Tigers to second place behind New York in 1950, and remained with the club until replaced by the late Fred Hutchinson midway through the 1952 season.

He began a 13-year tenure as Dartmouth's athletic director in 1954. The old baseball field on which Rolfe played recently was renamed in his honor.

He leaves his wife, the former Isabel Africa, whom he married in 1934.

Nixon For Increasing Unemployment Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon urged Congress today to bring 4.8 million more workers under unemployment insurance and to extend the period of benefits during times of high unemployment.

"Over 57 million workers are protected by unemployment insurance," the President said in a message to the Senate and House. "However, almost 17 million are not covered. More than half of these are employees of state and local governments."

Nixon said the 4.8 million workers he proposes to include in the system are in real need of protection, since many of them have low wages, little job security and no prospect of severance pay if they were to be laid off.

He broke the 4.8 million figure down this way:

—1.6 million workers in firms with less than four employees.
—400,000 on large farms employing four or more workers in each of 20 weeks.
—200,000 engaged in agricultural processing.
—1.8 million working for non-profit organizations.

Astronauts Run Trial Descent

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—"We'll have a view of the landing area from about 8,000 feet, two to three minutes before landing... we'll be continuously observing it for its suitability, namely a smooth touchdown point and absence of large craters."

That's how Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong describes the final moments of the daring descent to the moon he and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to make July 20, four days after Apollo 11 is launched.

The planned landing area is a three-by-seven-mile oval in the Sea of Tranquility.

In practice this week, the two moon-bound men are concentrating on the critical and dangerous landing and takeoff in a lunar module (LM) trainer, while fellow astronaut Michael Collins works in the command ship simulator. They also planned today to rehearse the launching from Cape Kennedy.

"As we come down lower and lower," Armstrong said in an interview last week, "we'll be able to evaluate the landing site better. If required, we will alter that landing point either farther ahead or off to the left or right, or perhaps a little short of where the machine is being directed automatically."

"Then, as we come through the 500 foot level or thereabouts, we'll probably take control of the attitude manually and fly it to the precise touchdown point," the Apollo 11 commander said. "As we reach the hover point," he continued, "we'll probably have a minute and a half or so of fuel which will permit us to go a relatively good distance, perhaps 1,000 feet if we choose. I wouldn't anticipate that we would do that. I would hope that we would generally get into the right area much earlier by changing the trajectory at a higher altitude."

"The fuel penalty for changing the landing point is much less at higher altitude," he explained. "It becomes quite significant down close to the surface."

When Armstrong and Aldrin lift off, they will rendezvous with Collins, who will orbit the moon while his companions explore below.

Ferris' Athletic Trainers Clinic

BIG RAPIDS (AP)—A quarter mile of tape and three days of training for athletic trainers may help to prevent a rash of athletic injuries this fall.

That's the goal of Ferris State College's third annual athletic trainers' clinic Aug. 21-23.

Allyn Miller, head trainer at Ferris State; Robert Spackman, who has written eight books on physical fitness and exercise in his 13 years as head trainer at Southern Illinois University; and Richard Hoover, head trainer at Northwestern University, will conduct the clinic.

Isabella

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Groleau and Clark and Karen of Chicago, spent the July 4th weekend with her mother, Mrs. Elsie Sundling.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wagner and daughter, Michelle, of Chicago, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Legault.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Campbell and sons, David and Daniel, spent Sunday at the Helmer Nelson and Ted Sundin homes.

Darlene Asplund and Sherry Stevens are staying this week at the home of Mrs. Beda Sundin.

—600,000 employees of state hospitals and universities.
—200,000 salesmen, delivery tradesmen and others not now defined as employees.

Nixon also said it is essential to raise the ceiling on maximum benefits. He said it takes at least 50 per cent of a worker's wage to prevent a severe cut in his living standard when he is between jobs. At least two out of five claimants of unemployment insurance now fail to get that much, he added.

A maximum insurance level of two-thirds of an average wage, Nixon said, would result in benefits of 50 per cent in wages for at least 80 per cent of insured workers.

The President said expanded unemployment insurance coverage also is needed since the existing program creates a disproportionate hardship on minority workers, many of whom are nonwhite.

Most state programs now provide about 26 weeks of benefits, but Nixon said the number of persons using these benefits would grow rapidly should the economy falter.

Man, 32, Hurt As Car Rolls

A 32-year-old Garden man remained in critical condition today at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital after he was thrown from a rolling automobile in a one-car accident on U.S. 2 about three miles east of Cooks at 4 p.m. Monday.

Thomas LaButte, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley LaButte, Kates Bay, driver of the car, told State Police he was passing a 1966 model Ford, rust colored and white topped, when the car pulled out and forced him off the road.

Monte Ward, 32, of Garden, son of Mrs. Harley LaButte and William A. Ward Sr., was thrown from the car and critically injured when the car rolled over on him.

Both men were taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital by Manistique Public Safety ambulance. LaButte was released after treatment for abrasions. Ward suffered internal injuries.

State Police of the Manistique Post are continuing their investigation. No tickets have been issued.

op at his home. "We often had students over to our house," Mayer said.

"I just can't believe it. It would be utterly contradictory to everything. He lived with us for three months and was awfully nice to our children," said Mayer.

Was In Jail
He said he saw little of Bishop after he moved to a private apartment April 1. "I saw Margaret maybe three weeks ago when she came to the office to say goodbye," he said.

Bishop was in jail when the first two young women were killed. However, the remaining five have been slain since March 21.

Funeral services for Miss Phillips — who wanted to specialize in helping persons with mental disorders — will be held in her hometown of Coopersville, Mich., Thursday.

Market Takes Steep Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued in a steep decline this afternoon in moderately active trading, with declines ahead of advances by better than 700 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 11.51 at $71.70.

Analysts attributed the early sharp retreat to a variety of developments, including uncertainty about the passage of the income tax surcharge extension. They said there was concern that failure to pass the measure could lead the administration to consider wage and price controls.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy today urged immediate action to extend the surcharge. He said that "failure to extend the surcharge would amount to a cut in taxes at a time of accelerating inflation. The consequences of failing to pass this legislation are unthinkable. Delay feeds inflationary expectation and thus makes inflation even more difficult to control."

But the head of the Senate Finance Committee said the extension bill would be opened to broad questions of tax reform and thus take weeks and possibly months to act on it.

Also dampening investor enthusiasm, analysts said, were the failure of the technical rally which buoyed the market last week to carry through Monday's session; the tense Mideast situation; and an apparent lack of definitive developments at a meeting Monday between Kennedy and leading bankers.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 3.3 at 309.2, with industrials off 6.0, rails off 1.3, and utilities off 1.1.

Food Poisoning Preventatives For Picnic Season

The picnic season can spell trouble to those who are careless in handling food. Food poisoning is most likely in the following foods: Ham, poultry, salads, many cream products and food made with a mixture of milk and eggs. However picnickers need not avoid these foods if some simple rules are followed.

— After cooking meat, either keep it hot or in insulated containers until serving or refrigerate it immediately.

— Never make a salad more than 24 hours before it is to be used.

— Don't carry picnic foods in the trunk of the car unless they are in insulated containers, (either hot or cold).

— Don't contaminate cooked foods by allowing them to come in contact with uncooked foods.

U.P. Highway Projects Told

LANSING (AP) — The state Highway Department will open bids July 16 at Lansing on 31 highway construction and maintenance projects in 22 counties to cost an estimated $20.3 million.

Major projects include:

Chippewa County — Grading, construction of drainage facilities and paving on a drive at Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie, $90,000.

Houghton County — Paving of 7.9 miles of Gay and Houghton-Tapiola Roads, $90,000.

Democrats May Limit Press At Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic party reform commission has invited television newscasters, news executives and academic experts to testify July 26 on whether press access to the floor should be limited at the 1972 presidential nominating convention.

The hearing, to be announced this week by commission chairman Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., will be the second by the group named to study party and convention rules as part of the drive to modernize the party's procedures.

The other commission, whose chairman is Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., is nearing the end of its nationwide public hearings and hopes to meet within the next month to map plans for preparation of a report recommending changes in the way delegates are chosen.

Favor Reduction
The O'Hara commission has gotten off to a much slower start than McGovern's group, partly because its job is more long-range and partly because the Democratic National Committee has been unable to supply funds for hearings outside Washington.

At its opening session in May, several commission members, including former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, 1968 convention manager for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, spoke up in favor of a sharp reduction—if not outright ban—on press personnel on the convention floor.

In part, the talk was motivated by the cramped conditions of the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago, which made movement through narrow aisles virtually impossible at times. Some commissioners blamed this on the unwieldy size of the convention—more than 3,000 delegates casting 2,622 votes—and the small hall.

At the 1968 Republican National Convention in Miami Beach, there were only 1,333 delegates, and the convention hall was much roomier.

Who's Who
In tackling this question, the Democrats are coming to grips with a problem that has worried both parties in recent years.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower recommended after the tumultuous 1964 Republican National Convention that the GOP bar press from the floor. A special study committee recommended sharply reducing the number of floor passes over previous years.

The list of those invited by the O'Hara Commission for July 26 comprised almost a Who's Who of American Journalism. However, many on the list are expected to decline or submit written statements.

Cookie Box Of Money Tossed Out

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Residents of a suburban neighborhood were sent into a money-grabbing tizzy after a 2-year-old boy tossed a cookie box containing $2,645 out of a passing car.

Citizens ran from their homes and dodged traffic to scoop up fistfuls of currency that wafted out of the cookie box as other cars ran over it.

The money was tossed out Saturday by Richard Brown, whose mother said the family was on its way to a drive-in movie and took its savings along for safekeeping.

Some residents had second thoughts, called police and turned over $2,197 to authorities, who returned the money to the Browns.

Police theorize the bulk of the remaining $448 was taken by an unidentified motorist who stopped during the race for the money and convinced some of the collectors that he had lost the loot.

GM Recalling Station Wagons

DETROIT (AP) — More than 20,000 owners of certain 1969 model General Motors station wagons with dual-acting tailgates were asked Monday to return their vehicles to their dealers for a safety check.

GM said that it has been determined that small quantities of exhaust fumes and dust could enter the vehicle interior if a small body filler plate was omitted during production.

The company said dealers would inspect the vehicles as a precautionary measure and install any missing filler plates at no charge to the owners.

Notification letters are being sent to 17,166 Chevrolet and 3,034 Pontiac station wagon owners, GM said.

Public Doubting Economy To Cool

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts are telling the man on the street that the economy will cool and inflation will slow, but the public is finding it difficult to believe.

It continues to feed inflation with a high rate of spending, according to latest figures.

'Dragnet' Star, Alexander, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ben Alexander, 58, the foot-sore detective in the old "Dragnet" television series, the desk sergeant in the later series "Felon Squad", a onetime child movie star and a successful off-camera businessman, was found dead Saturday in his home. The coroner's office said he had suffered a coronary occlusion.

The analysts point to such economic indicators as the Gross National Product—the total of all goods and services—and say that its annual rate of growth will level off and dip slightly for the remainder of the year, but will head upward in the mid to late 1970s.

In this year's first quarter, the GNP rose $16 billion to an annual rate of $903.4 billion, according to the U.S. Commerce Department. Monte Gordon, director of research for the brokerage firm of Bache & Co. predicts the rate will settle at $15 billion in the second quarter before dipping to about $13 billion in the third and fourth quarters, out will "turn up in the mid-1970s."

This leveling off is due to the government's efforts to slow inflationary prices by making money scarce. By braking credit, it is presumed that consumer spending, and then business spending, will slow down, causing prices to slide.

As of June, however, the consumer was buying everything else but the government's predictions for slowing inflation. Retail sales hit a record $29.4 billion in May, 1.5 per cent above the January level.

Wholesale prices rose three times as fast in May as they did in the month before, according to the June survey of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Wage increases in major labor contracts continued to outstrip, by a wide margin, the output of an average worker, thus adding sharply to business costs.

The public's urge now revolves around buying, borrowing and building to beat higher prices expected in the future.

As for the stock market, analysts see the current drop in averages similar to the tight money situation of 1966. The market recovered nicely then and will recover now, they say.

The market, as measured by the Dow Jones industrial average, has fallen about 10 per cent in the last six weeks, dropping about 100 points from its May 14 yearly high of 968.85.

Cox, Senators Hammer Indians

By The Associated Press

When Ted Williams took over as manager of the Washington Senators, he said he wouldn't demand perfection from his players—just a lot of hustle and an all-out attitude.

Apparently, Casey Cox got the message a little mixed up. The 6-foot-5 right-hander came within a whisker of perfection in a brilliant relief role Monday night as the red-hot Senators hammered Cleveland 7-2 for their 10th victory in 13 games and 13th in their last 19.

Cox, unsuccessful in three separate trials with the Senators before this season, came in with the bases loaded and one out in the third and promptly retired the last 20 men in order.

Towering Frank Howard, meanwhile, backed him with a pair of homers—one a tape-measure job that landed in the upper center field deck of Robert F. Kennedy Stadium, an estimated 485 feet from the plate.

Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago blanked sagging Oakland 2-0 on Gary Peters' two hitter, Minnesota edged Kansas City 6-5, Boston whipped Detroit 7-2 and California stopped Seattle 5-1. New York and Baltimore were not scheduled.

Cox, who turned 28 last week, had been bouncing back and forth between the minors and the Senators since 1966 before this season. During that span, he managed to get into 124 games—all in relief—in the majors, but had only a mediocre 11-10 record and a 3.25 ERA.

But this year, the Long Beach, Calif., product is one of the reasons the Senators are three games past .500 with a 45-42 record—their highest showing this late in the season in nearly a decade.

Monday night's victory was Cox' sixth in seven decisions, and the 6 2-3 innings of blank work lowered his ERA to a sparkling 1.88.

Cox, who stopped the Indians last week in his only route-going start in the majors, has yielded 18 earned runs in 86 innings, appearing in 32 games.

He came in after the Indians loaded the bases with one out against starter Jim Schellenback in the third. Cox got Tony Horton to hit into a force at the plate before Ed Brinkman made a great play on Ken Harrelson's grounder in the hole to force Horton at second.

The only blot on Cox' relief role came in the eighth when pinch-hitter Lou Klimchuck reached first after Del Unser dropped his short fly to center. But Klimchuck, trying for an extra base on the play, was thrown out at second by Unser. Howard smashed a two-run homer in the third against the scoreboard in right, then reached dead center with a bases-empty shot in the seventh, his 32nd of the season.

Mike Epstein also had a two-run homer for the Senators, his 20th, marking the seventh time this season that both Howard and Epstein have homered in the same game.

Harrelson's second inning homer, his 12th, staked the Indians to an early 2-0 lead before

Cox went to work.

Peters, 6-9, struck out nine and picked up his first victory since June 18 as the White Sox handed Oakland its fourth straight loss.

The only hits off him were a bloop double by Danny Cater in the second and Joe Rudi's double in the eighth. During one stretch, Peters retired 16 in a row.

Bill Melton, celebrating his 24th birthday, singled in one run and Gail Hopkins doubled in the other as the White Sox posted their sixth victory in seven Milwaukee home games.

Rich Reese's solo homer and a two-run single by pinch hitter Chuck Manuel in the eighth lifted Minnesota from behind and boosted the Twins' West Division lead to three games over the Athletics.

The late rally spoiled a big hitting performance by Jim Rooker, who suffered his sixth straight loss without a victory. Rooker, a former minor league outfielder, slammed a 450-solo homer in the third—his first major league hit—then cracked a two-run homer in the fifth.

Andy Messersmith hurled a four-hitter and singled in one run and Aurelio Rodriguez had a two-run homer in California's triumph.

Bill Requires Cyclists To Wear Crash Helmets

LANSING (AP) — Michigan motorcycleists — crash-helmeted and with muffled exhaust pipes— will be zooming along with "one of the finest safety programs in the nation—this year, says a legislator-cyclist.

Rep. Loren Anderson, who has been known to drive into the Capitol parking lot with a motorcycle strapped to the back of his car, points at two measures now awaiting Gov. William Milliken's signature.

One, given final approval and sent to the governor Monday by the Senate, requires cyclists to wear crash helmets while riding on public roads. The bill is similar to one ruled unconstitutional by the Senate Appeals Court two years ago, but Anderson suggests a legal about-face if another test is made.

The second measure provides that cyclists must obtain special licenses.

Autonomous Body

Also sent to the governor by the upper chamber Monday was a bill making the State Liquor Control Commission an autonomous body within the Michigan Department of Commerce.

"It's going to cost $193,000 to sever the commission from the department," objected Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids, who voted against the bill. "I think the money can be much better utilized."

Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, said the funds, included in this year's Commerce Department budget, would be used to replace department personnel who would go to fulltime work with the commission.

Anderson, sponsor of the motorcycle bills, said he believed the courts might change their minds on the helmet bill if asked to rule again on its constitutionality.

Precedent

"When Michigan courts ruled, there was very little precedent," the Pontiac Republican said. "We were only the second state in the nation to come up with such a law. But now there are more than 30 states with similar helmet laws.

"The U.S. Supreme Court has refused to consider the question," Anderson added.

Anderson said 104 people were killed riding motorcycles on Michigan highways in 1966.

In 1967, after enactment of the helmet law, "the deaths dropped to 86 despite an increase in motorcycle registrations," Anderson said. The total increased to 122 cyclists and 5 pedestrians in cycle accidents in 1968, after the court ruling.

The second cycle bill, given final approval last week in the Senate would:

—Require separate written and road examinations to test the cyclist license applicant's competency.

Restrict Handlebars

—Define a "motor driven cycle" as one with a motor that produces less than five gross horsepower, a motor scooter or a bicycle with motor attached.

—Prohibit cycle drivers from riding other than astride a permanent seat.

—Outlaw handlebars higher than 15 inches from the lowest point of the undecked saddle to the highest point of the handlebars.

—Require at least two brakes, one on the front wheel and one on the rear wheel, which may be operated by hand or foot; and a horn audible not less than 200 feet.

—Require a muffler "in good working condition, to prevent excessive or unusual noise and annoying smoke."

—Ban removal, destruction or damage to the baffles of the muffler and prohibit use of a muffler cutout, bypass or similar device.

Interest Ceiling Bill Resurrected

LANSING (AP) — A once-dead bill to raise the legal ceiling on real estate mortgage interest rates faces a second chance in the Michigan House despite charges of being only "a cruel hoax."

Meanwhile, a Senate-adopted bill allowing corporations to own bank stock has been returned to the House Private Corporations Committee to await outcome of similar Congressional measures.

The House meets today at 9:30 a.m.

In a complicated reversal Monday night, the lower chamber dusted off its own substitute for the controversial, Senate-adopted bill to raise Michigan's current 7 per cent ceiling on home loan rates and placed the measure on the table for reconsideration sometime this fall.

The action came less than a week after the House defeated 58-44 a bill to raise the legal maximum to 8 1/2 per cent. The Senate earlier approved a 9-per cent rate, also rejected by the House.

House leaders had declared the

Flyers Safe But In Soviet Hands

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is holding an American and a West German whose plane made an emergency landing near the Turkish border during an air rally, the U.S. Embassy reported today.

A spokesman said the Soviet Foreign Ministry told the embassy the plane violated Soviet air space and the case is being investigated.

He said the Foreign Ministry described the flyers as safe and uninjured. They were identified as Lt. Col. George Patterson of Chamblee, Ga., an aviation officer with the 3rd Infantry Division in Wuerzburg, West Germany, and Dr. Karl Scheitel of West Germany.

The embassy spokesman said the Foreign Ministry claimed the men's light plane crossed into Soviet territory July 4 in the region of Batumi, a port at the east end of the Black Sea just north of Turkey.

Under normal international practice the flyers and plane will be released if the investigation shows they strayed into the country by accident on an innocent flight. The Soviet government usually acts slowly in such matters.

The Dusseldorf Aviation Club reported Monday night the single-engine Cessna 172 made an emergency landing while taking part in a rally in the Black Sea area.

It said 32 of the 50 planes participating failed to complete the flight from Romania to Istanbul partly because of bad weather.
